

Jose Manuel Centeno Meza

Full Stack Developer

ABOUT ME

I am a creative, analytical, persevering, and proactive person. With extensive experience in transnational companies, customer service, and teamwork, which allows me to easily adapt to changes. After a laborious but satisfying path of academic and practical training, I feel ready to start the search for my first work experience as a Full Stack Developer. Being able to contribute knowledge, be part of the team and the creation of a project is my group objective; the commitment to learning and the constant search for personal and professional growth is my particular purpose.
